

Consent is... Design Competition Consent Form

Women's Health in the North (WHIN) is the health promotion and advocacy for the northern metropolitan region of Melbourne. For 16 Days of Activism Gender-based Violence WHIN is running an affirmative consent design competition for young people (15–25 years old) to design a poster or condom wallet. A condom wallet is a discreet cardboard packet which contains a condom and a packet of lubricant.

The winning designs and the names of the designers will be printed on posters and condom wallets that will be shared with different community organisations across the Northern Metropolitan Region of Melbourne and beyond.

The winning designer can choose to have their name and/or social media handle printed or have their design printed anonymously without their name.

The winning designs will also be used in WHIN publications and communications, including on our website and social media pages.

In order to use your design or name for ongoing use in the marketing, promotional, and advocacy materials of WHIN, we need your permission. For more information, contact Emily Sporik (emily.s@whin.org.au).

If over the age of 16:

I _____ grant WHIN permission to publish, reproduce or otherwise use my design or name including in marketing, promotional, policy and advocacy material, in printed and online formats.

☐ I understand I will not receive any payment or royalties for the use of my design.

☐ I understand I can revoke this permission at any point in the future, although it will not be possible for documents already printed, posted or submitted with my design or name to be withdrawn from use.

☐ I understand that my design will be used until 30 June 2030.
